MOREY IS LEAVING MIDDLEBURY

NORWICH HANDED A SECOND DEFEAT BY BLUE BASKETEERS

Score 29-20 When Whistle Ends Court Battle; Blue Step Nearer Tie

KNOWLES, "BILL" RICE ARE HIGH POINT MEN

Jones '28, Obtains Chance to Play; Nichols High Man for Norwich Team

By PAUL WOLFSKEHL, JR.

The varsity handed out its second defeat of the year to Norwich Monday night by the score of 29-20. Although the Cadets were not rated to beat the Blue team they furnished more opposition than was expected and kept the team hustling thruout. The victory moves Middlebury one step nearer a tie in the State series and assures her of at least second place.

The game gave Coach Morey plenty of chance to try various combinations, which he did. To start the game Hasseltine jumped center with Knowles playing guard. With about ten minutes of the first half elapsed Morey sent in a whole new combination taking out everyone but Hasseltine who dropped back to his old position as standing guard. Jones, a Freshman, got his first chance to play with the varsity, taking Hollquist's forward position.

Hardly had the game started than Norwich commenced the scoring with a free throw. A second later Bill Rice dropped one from the side and Knowles followed with another. With the score 9-5 in favor of Middlebury Morey began to make his substitutions. A basket by Towne and another by Knowles gave the team a good lead but a rally by Norwich soon began to cut this down. Towards the end of the half Nichols ,Norwich captain shot several baskets bringing the score to 14-10 where it stayed till the period ended.

The second half started with the regulars back in the lineup. Playing hard they soon ran into an eight point lead on baskets by Hollquist and Knowles. At times the game was very rough and with but five minutes to go Hasseltine left the game on personals. With the score 24-18 the varsity started a last minute rally running into a nine point lead which they held till the end of the game.

Nichols of Norwich proved to be high point man of the game with five baskets. Knowles followed close behind with four while Bill Rice sunk three. Hasseltine played a fine game as guard holding the Norwich forwards to a single basket.

The summary:

Middlebury 29		Norwich 20
W. Rice	rf	Plumley
Hollquist	lf	Sherman
Hasseltine	c	Molter
R. Rice	rg	Nichols
Knowles	lg	Lawrence

Field goals: W. Rice 3, McNeil 2, Hollquist, Knowles 4, R. Rice, Towne Plumley, Nichols 5, Lawrence 2.

Gridiron Leaders Pay Tribute

Marshall Klevenow, captain of this year's football team said today, "I feel that Middlebury is losing the services of the best coach I have ever worked for. I know that all the fellows who worked under him deeply regret to see him go and would do anything in their power to retain him. However, seeing that this is impossible I am sure that he leaves with the best wishes of the football team."

Walter "Hank" Potter, captain-elect for next year, paid the following tribute to the resigning coach. "To say that I am sorry to hear of Coach Morey's resignation would be but to reecho the sentiment of every man in college who has had the privilege to have worked under a real man. For always, win or lose, 'Dave' Morey was a man."

H. E. Curtis '25, Elected to Fill Sports Editorship

At a recent meeting of the Campus Board, H. Erwin Curtis '25, of Flushing, L. I., was elected sporting editor to take the place of Lloyd C. Harris '26, who has left college.

Curtis has had much training in journalism, having transferred here from Columbia University where he was in the journalism school. He has been connected with several newspapers and has handled many special features for the Sunday editions. Curtis has also had experience in interviewing prominent men. He has been writing all year for the Campus, and will hold office until the end of the present Board's administration.

Curtis is a member of the Sigma Phi Iota fraternity.

Interfraternity Basketball

Alpha Sigma Phi sewed up the American League race by defeating the Sigma Phi Iotas, 22-8, last Thursday. The Sigma Phis were handicapped by the absence of Jones from their line-up. He is now on the varsity squad.

E. M. REIGHARD '27 WINS FIRST PRIZE IN MERRILL CONTEST

Japanese Immigration Peril Subject of Winning Speech of Keen Contest

F. E. IRONS, '27 TAKES SECOND PRIZE

S. A. Babcock '27, and E. P. Crane '27, Awarded 3rd and 4th Money

Before an audience much smaller than the fine quality of the work deserved, the annual Merrill Prize Speaking Contest of the Sophomore class was held in Mead Memorial Chapel. Friday evening, February 20. The contest was unusually keen, a high grade of oratory being shown by all of the eight speakers. The judges, Mrs. E. W. Gould, Rev. Henry C. Newell and Dr. Howard L. Averill, after a long consideration, awarded the following prizes: E. Marion Reighard, of Quincy, Ill., first prize of $50; Francis S. Irons of Cornwall, second prize of $35; Scott A. Babcock of Canton, Mass., third prize of $25; Edward P. Crane of Richmond, Mass., fourth prize of $20.

"The Japanese Immigration Peril," a very vital and interesting question of today, was the subject of the winning speech. Mr. Reighard showed a marked ability in delivery and was apparently very much at home on the platform before judges. He said in part: "For a period of well over twenty-five years our government has been at work establishing a solid friendship and confidence between the United States and Japan. In the spring of last year Congress threw aside the work of all these years and aroused a great enmity in the heart of Japan, the leader and advocate of the yellow race, by passing the Johnson Bill which provides that the number of immigrants accepted from any country each year shall be two per cent of the number of that people within our borders in 1890. The pro-Japanese term this an exclusion act and we are witnessing the 'grave consequences' of this ill-tempered action of our Congress.

Mr. Irons, the winner of the second prize, took for his subject, "America's Task." He said: "What the American people have dared to do in the way of putting the principles of democracy into practice, has many times been the inspiration and hope of other nations, and the guiding light of their efforts. Nevertheless, there are deficiences in our progress which it is well to face frankly. Chief among these is our educational problem. We are not fully aware of the extent of illiteracy in the United States, nor do we appreciate its significance. In 1920 there were five million people who admittedly could neither read nor write. Illiteracy, whatever its cause, is a menace to the nation.

The speech winning the third prize was entitled, "Liquor and Law." Mr. Babcock spoke exceedingly well, with excellent enunciation and great earnestness. Briefly, he said: "The acid test of time has conclusively proved that unpopular laws which must be done away with. The public creates such a demand for liquor that th ereve-

FAMOUS FOOTBALL MENTOR TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION WHICH WILL TAKE EFFECT IN JUNE; WIFE'S HEALTH IS THE CAUSE

College Stunned by News; Rumors Had Been Discredited as Gossip

TO LEAVE AT HEIGHT OF HIS CAREER HERE

Was Brilliant Dartmouth Athlete During His Undergraduate Days

David B. Morey, football and basketball and baseball coach at Middlebury College since 1920, has tendered his resignation and will leave his present position at the end of the baseball season in June according to an announcement made public by him today. The ill-health of his wife, which can only be remedied by residence in a warmer climate, is given by Coach Morey as the one and only reason for his leaving Middlebury.

The following statement was made by Coach Morey yesterday:

"It is with the deepest regret that I find it necessary to leave Middlebury, my many good friends, and a work of which I am passionately fond. My resignation will take effect in June.

"President Paul D. Moody, to whom I am indebted for many unusual kindnesses, has endeavored in every manner to make it possible for me to remain. Unfortunately he can not control Vermont climate. It is solely because of Mrs. Morey's poor health that I have asked President Moody to allow me the privilege of locating in the South. There is imperative need for such a change. Otherwise nothing could persuade me to leave Middlebury. It is a situation which regardless of the kind efforts of President Moody can not be remedied except by the change to a warm climate."

Coach Morey is to be situated with one of the southern colleges, the name of which has not yet been divulged. There has been no hint at Middlebury as to who may be considered for the position which has been left vacant.

President Moody issued the following statement yesterday.

"The conditions under which Coach Morey feels obliged to ask for a release from the present contract are such that they can only be respected by the Trustees and his resignation has been very reluctantly accepted. The seriousness of this step has been realized by all concerned and every possible alternative has had careful consideration.

"Coach Morey leaves at the expiration of this year with the grateful respect and genuine affection of all who have worked with him, and his influence for the best type of sportsmanship has been a genuine contribution to the best interests of Middlebury. He takes with him the cordial best wishes of the college and the knowledge that in the hearts of all of us is the hope that conditions may so improve that he may return at some future time to go on with the work of training and conditioning the Black Panther, which owes him so much."

Although rumors and counter-rumors have been floating about the campus for the past few weeks to the effect that Coach Morey might resign the idea was generally discounted. The

DRAMATIC CLUB TO GIVE MARCH HARES

Play Is a Typical American Comedy; Will Require Much From Cast

After a long search, the play to be used as the April production of the Dramatic Club has been selected. It is a three-act comedy by Harry Wagstaff Bribble, entitled "March Hares" and sub-titled "The Temperamentalists."

The play is rather new, having been first presented at the Bijou Theater in New York and moved to the Punch and Judy in the summer of 1921. It was later revived at the Little Theater. George Jean Nathan, who is known as one of the most discriminating of American critics, recommends it as one of the very best and most typically American comedies. It is a play that will require deft handling and will make great demands upon the cast and the director. It is reported to require a more or less sophisticated audience to be fully appreciated.

Among the other plays considered were: Hecht's "The Egoist," Molnar's "Launzi," Maugham's "The Critic," Zoe Atkins, "Papa," Barry's "You and I," O'Neill's "S. S. Glencairn," Shaw's "Heartbreak House," Frank Craven's "First Year," Barrie's "Mary Rose," Milne's "Mr. Pim Passes By," Galsworthy's "Pigeon," and numerous plays of the Irish theater.

The cast is forming and rehearsals will commence before the week is out.

David B. Morey

"Dave" Morey has resigned. Middlebury's "miracle mentor" is going to leave the hills of Vermont and carry on his work in the Southland. The news of his resignation has come as a great blow to the men's college. When the first whispers of rumor swept across the campus, groups of men sat in gloomy attitudes in the dormitories and fraternity houses discussing the probability of the news gained by hearsay being true. And now that it is substantiated by his own statement in our columns today, one fears for the outcome of the next football season.

Since his arrival here to assist Coach Brown with the football squad of 1920, Coach Morey has worked and slaved to build up the fame and prowess of Middlebury teams. He produced the famous eleven that entered the huge Harvard stadium on a certain October day in 1923 simply another little college team to face the powerful Crimson line, and left it hailed all over the country for the extraordinary feat of holding the score to 6-6 and threatening to turn the tie into victory. It was this same man who, working as line coach, backfield coach, trainer, doctor, sent onto the gridiron the team that went thru the past season with but one defeat.

With such a schedule as Middlebury has signed up for next fall it ils no wonder that the prospect of winning eleven is gloomy. When we stop to consider that the team will face Yale and Harvard on two successive Saturdays with no "Dave" Morey to whip them into shape, we wonder who can take his place and single-handed produce the same results. He came to Middlebury as an assistant coach and he leaves known nationally as probably the best single coach in the country. He has done as much as any other man in helping to obtain national publicity for Middlebury. Each fall the papers have been full of "Little Middlebury's" prowess. Each season the sporting world watches the results of the eleven from "the granite hills of Vermont."

Thereis another side to our famous coach that is not always found in gridiron mentors. To a great number of men in college Coach Morey is just plain "Dave." And in that nickname is wrapped a wealth of respect, admiration and affection! For he has the faculty of revealing himself to his men in ways that soften the stern attitude assumed on the field and still hold their respect. He is neither too distant nor too intimate. "Dave" Morey has gone out of his way many times to do things for his men to add to their comforts—little things that many coaches do not even consider. He has given freely of his time and advice to help fellows who were in trouble or who were rather up against it. Those who have worked under him declare that he always went more than halfway. If he thought that a man had anything at all he spared neither time nor energy in trying to bring it out.

Coach Morey has done much to raise the standards of athletics and to keep Middlebury's name free from rough or unfair playing. His teams have always been noted for playing a hard clean game with good sportsmanship. He has turned out elevens which stronger and more powerful teams have admitted to be "foemen worthy of their steel." Of course he has turned out good baseball nines, but it is for football that Morey is most famous.

We feel that we are stating the sentiments of the entire student body when we say that we are sorry to see Coach Morey leave. It is not only because of the loss of his services as a coach, but also because Middlebury loses a clean sportsman, a gentleman and a friend!

Goodbye and good luck—"Dave"!

BY THE YARD

In accordance with the policies of development and economy, Mr. William (alias Billy) Farrell, announces that he has been authorized by the college to start alterations on the book store Realizing that a huge amount of valuable space was being wasted in the quarters of the present bookstore, the college has decided to utilize it. Plans call for the installation of a sunlight cafeteria capable of accommodating two hundred people per hour. Here the hungry students and studettes (latest expression for "co-ed" which is now passe), will be able to satisfy their wishes for a nominal fee. It is rumored that Limburger sandwiches will go for 2 cents while soup of the variety mentioned above will set us back but a nickel. Do not think that this is the limit of the menu—on the contrary one may purchase anything from a pickle to a planked steak.

In order to facilitate and speed up service, a new system of paying will be installed. No money will be actually handled. The student or studette who purchases something is handed a celluoid check for that amount. This he saves and at the beginning of the next semester when the term bill is paid, he presents all his checks and pays the total amount to the treasurer at that time. This system is sure to be popular with the patrons and eliminates the need of buying a new cash register for the cafeteria.

NEW COURSES

Your attention is invited to the following courses which will be added to the curriculum next semester.

Cooperation

March seems to be preparing to come in with its proverbial roar and rush, and with it comes one of annual or semi-annual campus problems. Whether the feet in question may be dainty or of the more serviceable and substantial variety, pressure form the same inflicted on new and struggling grass is not condusive to rapid growth, but most often means utter discouragement and death. Of course the ground is not as yet fully thawed, and we may be wading hip deep in snow again before long, but forewarned is forearmed, and certainly it is never too early to be thinking of a little cooperation on the matter. To many a stretch of green grass means nothing but a race track, to others a putting green, and to still more a short cut and five minutes or so longer to sleep in the morning. However, a time will come when we may all want to show off the beauties of our campus to admiring relatives or friends and in that case we certainly want neither ugly dirt brown bare places, nor eloquent signs with "Please" inscribed. It is comforting when hurrying somewhere over a plot of what hopes to be green grass if given a fair chance, to think that it's all right we don't live here and there is no irate parent hovering in the distance to make protests or suggestions, but in that connection we can acquire a spirit of cooperation, and remember that many men have died in their prime from hurrying too much.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of The Campus:

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Your editorial last week relative to the denial of the request to have all subscriptions to publications placed upon the term bill, perhaps permits an answer from me.

It has been the custom in the past to announce decisions reached by the Trustees but as far as I remember the grounds by which they come to these decisions are not usually made public. However, in regard to the action of the board, three things can be pointed out. First, that upon which you place your finger in your editorial, that this action would impair the value of the training received by those who manage the publications. The handling of the finances is one of the most difficult and and at the same time valuable parts of the training in any undergraduate activity. It may have been a mistake to have put The Campus and Saxonian upon the present basis. This much is certainly true, that placed upon that basis a great deal of former initiative has been destroyed.

Secondly, it is undemocratic and contrary to the general traditions of American colleges to force unwilling subscriptions from anyone. After all, this is a College, not a High school or Seminory and though the present generation might be willing to place this obligation upon the student body now and in the time to come, it is questionable whether or not one student generation has a right to mortgage the rights of another.

Thirdly, the whole argument in favor of this is predicated by conditions which simply are not so. The Campus does not always make a profit and even under this present arrangement it has sometimes run behind. And the analogy to athletics is misleading. For some time the College has had to supplement the income of the Athletic Association and because of this, reserves the right to itself of exercising a certain amount of oversight in athletic matters. If the College acted as agent for the collection of subscriptions and became to a certain extent financially responsible, (and it would certainly be morally responsible), this would throw a burden of oversight upon the College for the periodicals which we feel is incompatible with the exercise of student initiative. In short it is not possible to have it both ways. If there is not sufficient demand for a thing like a College paper to make its publications financiallly possible, it is not right or wise to give it a fictiticous life by subsidy. If there is sufficient demand it should be possible so to conduct it as to make it pay.

PAUL DWIGHT MOODY.

To the Editor of The Campus:

In last week's Campus there appeared an article concerning the forthcoming trip of the Glee Club, the data for which article was given to your reporter by me. In the presentation of the material certain false impressions were given and certain misstatements were made concerning my relation and that of Mr. Larsen to the Glee Club. These I beg for sufficient space to correct.

My connection with the club is purely as an assistant to Mr. Larsen. Responsibility for the policy, program, and drilling of the club rests entirely with Mr Larsen, who is the official direction of the club. All who are familiar with the history of the club for the last four years know that its progress and present attainment are due to Mr. Larsen's unusual musicianship and personality. I am anxious that those also who are not familiar with that history shall know the facts, in order that honor may be placed where honor is due.

Delta Omega Delta Initiates

Delta Omega Delta sorority held its annual initiation Friday, February 20. The initiation banquet was served at the Hotel Addison immediately following. Elizabeth Hayes, Emily Lobdell, Gertrude Parsons, Ruth Potter, Laura Powers and Helen Revere, all of the class of 1928 were the initiates. Miss Esther Langwell '23, of Proctor, Miss Dorotry Slayton '23, and Mrs. A. M. Kline attended the banquet.

Prof. Abbott on Americanization

At the weekly meeting of the Middlebury Christian Association in Hepburn Social Hall Wednesday evening Professor C. F. Abbott spoke on present Americanization efforts. He outlined briefly work that has been done in the past in America and particularly in Vermont and related the fundamental aims of the present action against illiteracy and for better Americanization.

His talk was along the line of some active social work which the Christian Association is planning to do in the neighborhood this winter in combating illiteracy.

At the Congregational Church Sunday noon Professor A. M. Kline spoke to the Students' Forum. He gave an instructive talk on the Documentary Evidence of the Scriptures. He pointed out various changes and modifications which have taken place in the subject matter of the Bible since it was first written.

Next Sunday Professor Kline will elaborate on the same subject.

REV. KINSOLVING OF UNIV. OF VIRGINIA IS VESPER SPEAKER

Declares Men Live by a Four Leaf Clover—Work, Play, Love and Worship

Rev. A. B. Kinsolving, of the University of Virginia spoke at vespers Sunday evening. The scripture reading was John 10. As a pointed verse Mr. Kinsolving took, "I came that ye might have life and might have it more abundantly."

He pointed out that "what we miss is the enthusiasm which Jesus instilled in the hearts of his disciples. 'He that keepeth his life shall lose it, but he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it.' Religion should be something that men live by.

"Men live by a four leaf clover—work, play, love and worship. Worship is the greatest focus that wen live by, You are going out on an unchartered sea, great adventure. Beware of the man who claims to know all about God.

"People need a sense of humor in religion. God has a sense of humor which can be said in no irreverent sense, and Jesus had a smile through his teachings. Another new element in religion is that of chance. We have admiration for a man who takes a chance. Life is a chance, an adventure. If you go into religion you can take that gambling sense with you. Jesus was a great gambler too, for he took his life and threw it and won, to save men."

Drama Club Plays

Two rather weird but very much appreciated plays were produced in the college playhouse last Thursday evening. The first, directed by J. A. Shaw, '25 ,was "Ile," by Eugene O'Neil. The caste included Messrs. Graves '27, Maynard '28, Sargent '26, Yeaw '28, and Miss Pritchard '26. In direct contrast to the realism of this play came the fanciful "Will o' the Wisp" a Forty Seven Workshop play, directed by Esther Spooner '25. Misses Goldthorpe '25, Sedgwick '27, Colby '26, and Rowley '27 composed the caste chosen by Miss Spooner. The production of both plays seems worthy of commendation and the artistry of "The Will o' the Wisp" was delightfully executed.

Alpha Sigma Phi Holds Formal Dance Saturday

Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity held their Formal dance Saturday evening in the Gym. Streamers, radiating from a huge red and black cross-word puzzle formed an intriguing canopy under which the dancers swayed to and fro. Red lampoons were suspended from the four corners of the puzzle. The stage was made to represent a garden wherein the dancers oould rest themselves after a mad whirl to the music of the Buchanan's Serenaders who came from far off Stamford, Connecticut to contribute to the success of this dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Moreno-Lacalle, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Brown and Mrs. Maude O. Mason were patrons and patronesses. Representatives from the other fraternities were Roger H. Staples, Chi Psi; Donald D. Frederickson, Delta Kappa Epsilon; John T. Lee, Delta Upsilon; William E. Long, Kappa Delta Rho; J. Audrey Clark, Sigma Phi Iota; Edward M. Reighard, jr., Chi Kappa Mu; and S. Richard Rapport.

TRACK TEAM FACES MOST DIFFICULT OF SEASONS THIS YEAR

Much Raw Material to be Whipped Into Shape For Team

Although the track prospects this year are not very bright, due to the graduation of several excellent men, Coach Brown is working very hard with the large amount of inexperienced material out for the team. Only the most painstaking training, however, can turn out a good track squad. According to Coach Brown, no matter whether Middlebury comes through with a win or not, the season will be the most difficult in several years.

The track team has lost "Rolly" Crane, one of the best sprinters in the east; Capt. "Doc" Cook, the mainstay in the quarter mile, the 220, the 440, the broad jump and the high jump; George Peck ,an excellent high and low hurdler; Krickbaum, one to be feared in the pole vault event; Jack Hancock, a two-miler who was never beaten; Sam Kendall, who figured in the half mile; Carlton, a point-getter in the high and low hurdles and in the pole-vault; and Earl Fish, Middlebury's best miler and a good half-miler.

There will have to be some shifting around this year. Henry Happ may be shifted from the quarter mile to the 100 and the 220, though he is needed in his regular position. Donald may be used in Happ's place. "Mike" Carboy is out for the 100 and the 220 Finnegan will be used in the 220 and the 400; Cann in the 440. Then there are Dodd, Kelly, Lockhard and Robinson for the mile and two mile; Grant, Hazen, and Stoughton for the half-mile and mile; Gollnick, a good miler; and Britnell, who may do very well for the half-mile.

Percy Whitney and "Doc" Eddy are fair in the broad jump.

The team may make a fair showing in the high jump, as "Hank" Potter can be relied upon to bring in the points. Little is known, however, concerning the potentialties of the three freshmen, Westfall, Walker and Totten, who are out for the high jump.

Some good men are still left in the weights. "Al" Cass and Percy Whitney are experienced men in all the weight events. McLaughlin generally won the shot-put, last year, therefore, he can be relied upon to bring in the points this year. "Doc" Eddy is being developed for the javelin event, and Hamlin, for the discus. Reilly, a freshman, also out for the weights, is inexperienced but he is progressing fairly well.

Hinman and Waldo are both out for the pole-vault, an event that is very weak this year.

Percy Whitney and Shaeffer are the only veterans left in the hurdles. Six men however, are being developed. H. Jones and Cann are likely to be used. Blanchette has turned out to be the best low-hurdler in the freshman lcass.

Coach Brown will remain here during the Easter vacation to train these men who can stay. It is very important that as many men as possible remain at Middlebury for this training. As soon as weather will permit, probably about March first, Coach Brown will send the men out-doors for daily practice. The preliminary tryouts will be held before Easter, and the finals immediately after the vacation.

PLATFORM TRIO TO MEET ST. MICHAEL'S NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Chapin '25, Leary '25 and Carlson '26 to Compose Team of Debaters

Middlebury will take part in its first intercollegiate debate of the season when on Friday night a trio of seniors journeys to Winooski to meet St. Michael's College. The Blue is to uphold the affirmative and St. Michaels the negative on the question "Resolved: That Congress should have the power to pass a measure over the veto of the Supreme Court by a two-thirds vote." The Middlebury team is composed of Chapin '25, captain, Leary '25 and Carlson '25. Oscar Cooley '25, an experienced debater, was to have been a member of the team but illness forced him to withdraw yesterday and Carlson was taken in his place.

Each of the men on the team will be taking part in his first intercollegiate debate. However, all are experienced speakers and have a good knowledge of their subject. Both Leary and Carlson have taken prizes in speaking contests in past years. Little is known of the strength of the St. Michael's team since this is also their first debate of the year.

Last year St. Michael's had a very strong team, twice defeating Vermont on the World Court question, while Vermont was able to win over Middlebury by a 2 to 1 decision on the same question. This is the first time that St. Michael's and Middlebury have met on the debate platform.

Famous Football Mentor Is Leaving Middlebury

actual announcement, which is especially depressing in view of the fact that the most ambitious football schedule the Black Panther has ever undertaken faces it next season, the games including Yale, Harvard and N. Y. U., comes with stunning swiftness to the student body.

David B. Morey came to Middlebury in the fall of 1920 as a line coach under Arthur W. Brown. Proving his ability as a coach, Morey became varsity coach the flolowing year, while Mr. Brown became head of the physical education department.

After graduating from Dartmouth in 1913, Morey played ball with the Philadelphia Athletics, and later with the New York State, New England and Canadian baseball leagues. Mr. Morey then took up coaching and made a splendid record in several of the larger high and prep schools in Massachusetts. After coaching at Lowell Tech, Morey went to Dartmouth as an assistant coach.

For the past your years Coach Morey has fashioned formidable fooball machines out of comparatively mediocre material, teams that have held their own with the largest of the eastern colleges and universities, including highlights in the football world as Harvard, Columbia, Dartmouth, West Point and Penn State.

In 1923 the Black Panther held Harvard to a 6-6 tie, and last season lost only one game ,and that a close one, to Harvard. Middlebury rolled up the tremendous total of 254 points last season against her opponents which won for her high scoring honors among the eastern colleges.

Last season was undoubtedly the most successful one that Middlebury has ever undergone and as Coach Morey has no assistant coaches under him, he earned for himself the sobriquet of "the miracle mentor."

Under Morey's skillful tutelage, Middlebury has made enormous strides on the gridiron, proving itself "the little giant" of the football world. Morey has made Middlebury, but no less truly has Middlebury made Morey. "Dave" Morey came here as an ambitious but comparatively obscure line coach and will leave it in June as a nationally known football coach.

Coach Morey's resignation, coming as unexpectedly as it did, has not yet given the athletic authorities here any chance for consideration of his successor.

nue officials are practically helpless to stem the inflow. We look at the iquor tragfic as a sort of out-door sport. In fact, we are amused when we hear of another bootlegger who has escaped the law! To try to enforce such a law without the support of the public is like trying to produce a winning football team without the support of the student body.

Mr. Crane delivered his speech, "A Call to Youth," in a very interesting and convincing manner. His voice and enunciation were excellent. He said:

"One of the most practical and beneficial organizations existing within the United States today is that branch of our National Defense system known as the Citizens' Military Training Camps. During a period of thirty days every summer, opportunity is given every able-bodied American citizen between the ages of seventeen and thirty to attend one of twelve military training camps at the expense of the govenrment. What purpose can the government have in training forty thousand men for a month every summer in close and open order drill and the tactics of warfare? It is simply to fashion from these young men better citizens of their country and of the world in general.

The class has been at work since the beginning of last semesterfi and has been drilled by Professor Wilfred E. Davison and Dana S. Hawthorne '26. The other speeches were: "A Barton Hepburn," Alfred L. Padula; "A Challenge to American Business," Abbott Carney; "Our Middlebury Heritage," D. U. Pinder; "Tariff by Commission," David H. Williams.

Musical selections were given by Saltmarsh '25, Rosalind Higgins '25, Bradford Newcomb '27, and Arthur Yeaw '28. Professor Vernon C. Harrington presided.

College Graduates in Social Service and Community Work."

In substance he spoke as follows: "Community recreation is a tremendrously important field because of its interrelation with city and industrial problems of today. Recreation is a health measure, as well as a preventative; it is a builder.

"Constructive play to give children self expression is a growing necessity in American schools. It is one of the greatest aids to the educational field. Every year over two thousand delinquent children are brought before Juvenile courts. But far rather than give the children the blame the blame should be placed on the parents: adult delinquence toward children. The environment and stimuli are wrong in communities where there is a great deal of juvenile crime, as well as adult crime. The proper attitudes and influences should be present in homes, in church, and in schools.

"There is more money invested in Commercial amusements than in any other industry in America. But moving pictures do not wholly take the place of recreation. The main trouble in America is that people are not educated for leisure.

"There is a wide, open field in the community for college workers. Communities need play ground supervisors, Community House leaders, leaders of groups, Specialists who will make up plans and systems for better recreation, and Directors and assistant directors for the whole community job.

"One desiring to do this sort of work must have courage, a winning personality, a natural like for folks, some degree of tact and diplomacy; he must be a planner, a looker ahead, must have argumentative power, a method of approach, a sound character, and finally faith. A person will not get rich while doing community work; but he is aiding in making the country a better place to live in; he is opening the way."

Three Informals Held

Three informal parties were given on Saturday evening, Madelyn Derrick and Richard Stout played for dancing at the Delta Upsilon House. A dance was given at the Sigma Phi House. chaperoned by Professor and Mrs. A. M. Kline, with Connelly, Wright and Mcutcheon playing. A third dance was in progress at the same time at the Pi Phi and Delta Delta Delta rooms. Professor and Mrs. F. W. Cady chaperoned and Eastman and Montandon furnished the music.
